

BEAR FRUIT – NOT FLOWERS

By Cindy Jacobs. (Women of Destiny) - p.29

I once heard the parable of a beautiful tree which, as it matured, grew beautiful flowers. The tree, seeing the flowers, came to the conclusion that it was a flower tree and that it would always be a flower tree. But as spring progressed, the flowers dropped off and little hard balls began to form where the flowers had once given the tree its sense of splendor. This was most confusing to the tree, which no longer knew what it was. Time passed and the little hard balls eventually matured into luscious ripe apples. Eventually the tree realized it was meant to bear fruit and not flowers.

The apple tree's story is much like the passages of God for those who are called. Many times young leaders will assume their eventual destinies by the beginning flowers of their calling.”

BEAR FRUIT – NOT FLOWERS

By Cindy Jacobs. (Women of Destiny) - p.29

I once heard the parable of a beautiful tree which, as it matured, grew beautiful flowers. The tree, seeing the flowers, came to the conclusion that it was a flower tree and that it would always be a flower tree. But as spring progressed, the flowers dropped off and little hard balls began to form where the flowers had once given the tree its sense of splendor. This was most confusing to the tree, which no longer knew what it was. Time passed and the little hard balls eventually matured into luscious ripe apples. Eventually the tree realized it was meant to bear fruit and not flowers.

The apple tree's story is much like the passages of God for those who are called. Many times young leaders will assume their eventual destinies by the beginning flowers of their calling.”